

Press Release

First Friday Fans Frolic with the Bears

First Friday Fans from around the Peninsula are excited to visit downtown Los Altos on Friday, September 3rd to dance, dine and frolic with the Bears of Los Altos from 6-9pm

A sleuth of bears has descended on the charming Silicon Valley town.

“No need to worry though, the artist created bears are our friends,” says Jamie Lucia, First Friday Co-chair and owner of Altos Animal Chiropractic. The Bears of Los Altos are being auctioned off to support Los Altos Rotary Club’s local and international charitable causes.

“The Bears are super fun to pose with” says Garsten, seen below posing with “Nanuk the Polar Bear” by Barbara Bussler. Nanuk’s temporary home is outside Garsten’s Nature Gallery at the corner of 2nd & State. She could find her new home in your beautiful garden if you are the highest bidder. You can click on the QR code at any bear location to make your bid at losaltosbears@losaltosrotary.org

“While you wander around checking out the 14 bands playing outdoors in downtown Los Altos on First Friday, don’t forget to post a picture with your favorite bear on social media to help spread the word for a good cause”, says Carol Dabb, Chair of the Bears of Los Altos Los Altos Rotary Club fundraiser.

“First Friday Frolicing Fans photos tagging First Friday FB or Instagram during First Friday will make for lots of First Friday winners,” says Donna Drako, first Friday committee member.

“First Friday is all about having fun,” says Drako.

Prize can be picked up on First Friday from 6-9pm at Veterans Community Plaza or at Nature Gallery.

For more information about the bands playing on Frist Friday visit: losaltosfirstfriday.org.

Photos attached:

Carol Garsten, Downtown Los Altos First Friday Co-Chair with Nanuk the Polar Bear
(picture courtesy of Carol Garsten)

New First Friday Band “Voluntary Hazing” will be playing at Veterans Community Plaza on First Friday September 3rd

(Picture courtesy of Voluntary Hazing)